Captain Macquoid had sent me a copy of Programme of sports a few days ago, but I informed him that the place is too far to send competitors from here. I do not know if he has already informed the Secretary of this. However as the karitha has been received now, I think the invitation may be accepted & a few competitors sent to Faridkote if Captain Macquoid does not think it too late. I shall write to the Regimentdar in the mean time to have men ready, kindly let me know the decision of Government soon.

The Dewan desires your opinion on the accompanying request for our Imperial Service Troops to take part in the Faridkote Assault at arms.

I think a reply should be sent accepting with thanks the kind invitation,

Saying that as regards details of men competing matters will be arranged with the Inspecting Officer as suggested.

If we find that there are no events we are likely to do well in, We can always make some excuse for not sending our men so far.

But I think an acceptance should be sent at once.
